Frequently Asked Questions

When will I know I have been accepted into the show?

After your work is juried, we will send an email indicating if you are/are not accepted into the show.

What is a juried show?

Each crafter/artisan participating in this juried show must have their work reviewed by the Yankee Homecoming Jury Panel to ensure that their work meets the show's requirements. The Yankee Homecoming Craft Show is a juried show. Applicants must send a completed application, along with photos of their work and booth display in order to participate in this show. We limit the number of crafters per category. Acceptance into a past show does not guarantee acceptance into the 2023 show.

Do you accept applications after the deadline?

Getting your application to us by the date on the application ensures that you will have the best chance at getting into the show and receiving a space. We continue to add crafters/artisan as space and time permits. Crafters/artisans are encouraged to apply as soon as possible. If applying after June 30th there will be a $15 late fee.

May I sell imported items?

No, you may not. Yankee Homecoming shoppers expect to find hand-made work at the show and to meet the actual artists who make the arts and crafts they buy. If you do not make the work you sell, the Yankee Homecoming Craft Show is not for you. The Application and Agreement that each crafter/artisan signs, forbids the sale of imported items. Absolutely no dealers or sales representative, imports, or kits will be allowed. All items must be hand-made. Vendors with imported items will be asked to leave, without recourse and/or return of fees.

May I send my spouse or partner to the show in my place?

Yankee Homecoming shoppers expect to meet the actual artists who make the arts and crafts they buy. We require that our crafters and artists be present at their booths on show day – from the beginning to the end. Many crafters/artisans have partners or a husband or wife with whom they create their work. If the work is a collaboration, the names of all partners must appear on the application and we require that at least one signed partner be present at the show.
